UK Fieldhouse Completion Expected By November, 1950

Kernel Sports Editor

During the past several months we have heard many conflicting re-ports on the capacity and the expected completion date of the University's fieldhouse, which is now being constructed on Euclid Avenue. Last week we decided to speak with the men connected with the project and get the facts. Here is what we found out.

The general consensus of opinion with the contractors and engineers working on the structure is that the fieldhouse will be finished late in 1950. Most of them believed it would be around November, in time for the 1950-51 basketball season.

One school official believes that no one knows exactly the capacity right now but it will probably be "slightly less than 12,000."

From what we could gather it all sons the Cincinnati Gardens will be depends on the size of the individual completed in 15 months in compariseats, the spacing allowed between son to 44 months here for UK's field-house is that the former is being front-row seats and the playing built on a cost-plus basis, which
